Message about Global Liberal Arts Courses

Global Liberal Arts Courses were established in the spring of 2023 to provide more opportunities for the University of Tokyo students, including its exchange students, to study in English about some of the most imminent social issues facing the world today. In particular, these courses cover a variety of topics relating to the so-called SDGs or sustainable development goals.

The SDGs were adopted by the United Nations in 2015 to end poverty and protect the planet so that every single individual in this world may live in peace and prosperity by 2030. This may seem like a tall order to many of you, given the degree of environmental destruction and climate change as well as all kinds of social tensions, including devastating military conflicts, that confront today’s world.

But the SDGs are about the real needs of the real people, including all of us, in this world. We cannot simply give up in the face of enormous challenges. The Global Liberal Arts classes will encourage you to reflect on these critical issues and, moreover, articulate your ideas in a constructive way. Along the way, you will learn not only about the SDGs but also ways to present your views in a clear and convincing manner in English.

Because the SDGs encompass many fields and disciplines, Global Liberal Arts courses are inter- and cross-disciplinary in their orientation. They are designed to enhance your ability to engage in serious and earnest dialogs about the sustainable future of the world across many borders and boundaries.

I hope you will find these courses to be of great significance to you. All the professors are very much looking forward to welcoming you to their classes!

Vice President (Global Education)
Professor, Graduate School of Arts and Sciences

3. Course Registration Procedures

(1) Course Registration

Course registration must be done through UTAS. Please follow the instructions provided by your own faculty, college or graduate school. You will not be able to earn credits unless you register properly for a course. It is imperative that you register correctly within the prescribed period for all the courses you plan to take.

Since up to 20 students will be, in principle, allowed to register for each course, please follow the instructor’s guidance about the proper way to get approval for your registration.

(2) Course Registration Schedule

Registration procedure schedules vary according to your own faculty, college or graduate school. Be sure to check the registration period in advance. To enroll in a course, you must register within the prescribed registration period. Pay careful attention to the registration deadlines of your own faculty, college or graduate school as you cannot register after the deadline.

(3) Confirming and correcting your course registration

The timing for confirming and correcting your course registration varies according to your own faculty, college or graduate school. Be sure to check in advance.
4. Exams/ Assignments

Students must not engage in any forms of misconduct such as disrupting class sessions, cheating in exams, or plagiarizing. They must also abide by the rules set by the instructor, including submission deadlines for various assignments. Any violation may result in academic penalties.

5. Grade Evaluation

(1) Grade evaluation method
Grades are evaluated according to the course you register. Academic performance is evaluated either on a five-level scale of A+, A, B, C, or F/Fail, or on a Pass/Fail basis. Students choose which way they wish to be evaluated at the beginning of the semester. The method of evaluation may not be changed after the close of the registration period.

<td>Global Liberal Arts (〇〇〇) with a Pass/Fail e.g. Global Liberal Arts (Voices of the Underground) with a Pass/Fail</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(2) Grades
You can access your grades on UTAS. The timing for accessing your grades varies depending on your own faculty, college or graduate school.

6. Retaking the same Courses

Students can retake courses for which they have not yet obtained credits as long as the same course (i.e., the same title) is offered in a later semester. Registration on UTAS is necessary to retake the course.

7. Course questionnaire

At the end of course, each instructor will give a course questionnaire. For details, please follow their instructions.

★★★Note★★★
You can choose to receive either a letter grade (from A+ to F) or just a Pass/Fail. Make sure to choose the method of assessment you prefer at the time of the course registration. For details, please see "Grade Evaluation" on the syllabus.
8. Miscellaneous Issues Concerning Courses

(1) Information about class cancellation, supplementary classes, rooms and timetable changes etc. are posted on UTAS.

(2) Filming and/or audio recording are prohibited during classes, unless the course instructor gives permission.

(3) Follow the instructor’s instructions for any matters regarding the course.
